

The Copilot platform for employee productivity

Find information, take action, and be more productive – all in one place

The problem

Employees are struggling with juggling point solutions for every AI use case. Enterprise search solutions can find information, but can't automate anything. App-based copilots only drive productivity within one app. And general LLMs lack the context of your enterprise, limiting their effectiveness.

The Moveworks solution

In addition to Moveworks' robust search and enterprise-wide automation capabilities, we're making the Moveworks Copilot the single place to go for general productivity tasks. This replaces the need for one-off tools for every AI use case, and gives employees a productivity boost where they work today.

Introducing Brief Me in the Moveworks Copilot

Feature overview

With Brief me, employees can upload documents directly in chat and extract key insights in seconds. They can also transform those insights into other helpful formats with ease.

Prep for prospect & customer conversations

Account teams use Brief Me to analyze competitive materials, skim news articles, and pull golden nuggets from industry and earnings reports, leading to better conversations.

Home in on top-tier talent

HR teams leverage Brief Me to parse professional profiles and pinpoint areas of impact, allowing them to spend more time with people – and leave the busy work to AI.

Supercharge marketing workflows

Marketing teams harness Brief Me to summarize analyst and industry reports, quickly digest messaging briefs, extract key demand gen metrics, and position against competitors.

Better serve your customers

Customer support teams utilize Brief Me to speed read company policies as well as summarize resources on common issues, troubleshooting steps, and product features.
